Thank you to all my supporters for allowing me to represent you. I have made a personal choice to resign from City Council and the EDC. My priorities have changed since my daughter Colleen moved home with her family. My two high school grandchildren, Maelynn and Riley, play sports and I plan to spend my free time cheering for them on the ball fields.

I came back into politics to promote good governance and to ensure things were done the right way, so our community could be a better place to live now, and for the generations that follow us. Infrastructure is crucial for our city's survival.

The city now has a Master Plan for street reconstruction. There is a design in place to conserve our City Park for the future. For the first time, the city has proposed searching for property for a new wastewater treatment facility - a necessity for tomorrow's City of Bandera. As a council, we made changes to the EDC policies so spending was stricter, focusing on the original reason the EDC was established.

It is important that the residents of the City of Bandera pay attention to whom they elect as their leaders, and that those they elect are making the right decisions for the citizens of Bandera and our community as a whole, not just a small group.

Elections for mayor and two City Council positions will be held in November. I urge the city residents to get out and vote for the people they think will make the best choices for our city.

I have lived in Bandera for 43 years. It is still the very best place to live and raise your children. Having my grandchildren here is a dream come true, which is why I am stepping away from local politics for now. Keep Bandera Bandera as long as we can. See you at the ball field.
