Plans are underway for the first Prairie Song Market Day, a holiday artisans craft show and Christmas market. Replete with a visit from Mrs. Claus, the event is set for Dec. 12, beginning at 10 a.m., at Prairie Song Custom Sewing by Lynn and Upscale Resale Shop - the little cottage on the hill.

Hosted by store owner Lynn White, Prairie Song Market Day is a one-stop shop for unique handcrafted items, antiques and gifts. A list of Bandera's vendors and artists is already assembled, including vendors Jerad Wilcox of fourEight Plaques and Customs; Sheryl Noon of High Noon Designs; Heather and Steve Jones of Zoka Jo's; Jane and Leslie; Debbie Cavallini of Debien Deuxfolis; Janet Williams with All Stitch Up; Michelle Daniels; Mickie Towers Carnes; Samantha with Sam Makes & Bakes; The Hungry American Food Truck and, of course, the host Lynn White.

Prairie Song is located at 280 Hwy. 173 N. For more information, check out her Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/Prairie-Song-Custom-Sewing-by-Lynn-Upscale-Resale-Shop-930071537177838/>
