The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet was held Saturday, during which several members of the community were recognized.

Among those honored were Cowboy Capital Award winner The Frontier Times Museum; Citizen of the Year winner Ryan Fenocchi; Business Community Service Award winner The Boys & Girls Clubs of Bandera County; Volunteer of the Year Award winner Randy Rostad; and Wilton Crider Cowboy Preservation Award winner Roy Dugosh.

The awards were designed by artist Esther Benedict, the gala was held at the Bandera Brewery, and music was provided by Yosh & Yimmy.
