The Bandera Prophet

December 31, 2024

Happy New Year!

By Jessica Nohealapa'ahi
The Bandera Prophet

For 22 years and counting, my family and I share with you our New Year welcoming.
In 2003, a colleague, friend and fellow photographer asked me to capture the coming year in lights for our newspaper's front page lead art. What began as a professional challenge evolved into a family tradition that we have maintained every year since, and now spans three generations.
As always, the bloopers are just as much a treasured part of our annual event as the winning shot. This year there were quite a few.
Happy New Year. May 2025 be kind to us all.